

A long, thin horizontal rectangular box spanning most of the width of the page, likely for a title or header.

A horizontal rectangular box centered below the header bar.

A large vertical rectangular box on the left side of the page, containing a smaller horizontal rectangular box in its upper left corner.

A large vertical rectangular box on the right side of the page, containing three stacked horizontal rectangular boxes in its upper half and one horizontal rectangular box in its lower right area.